(Verse I)

Soft beneath me
A Sin-thetic grace
Molding your shape
To fit my space
Ugly to the eye
But sweet to the bone
The tightest cage
I've ever known

(Pre-Chorus)

But you prefer the perforated soul
A leaking light a dozen holes
Open to the night

(Chorus)

Oh! I don't need the sugar
Give me no sweet
Sin-thetic Soul rhythm
Beneath my feet

(Verse II)

No strings attached
That's a lie I tell
Walking soft
Through a candy-coated hell
The strings are severed
I've found my feet
I no longer need your sugar
To make my life sweet

(Verse III)

Hollow and light sinking deep
A plastic promise you couldn't keep Balanced on the edge of a jagged truth
Feeding the hunger of my cinematic youth
Static cling, Sin-thetic string
Walking on the wire
Until it snaps, From your sting

(Chorus Repeat)

(Bridge)

It's a neon trap in a pastel hue
Unsubscribe I'm through with you
The strings are severed
I've found my feet

I no longer need your sugar
To make my life sweet

(Refrain)

The sugar's gone
The flavor's drawn
The wire is broken
The truth is spoken
The Noir roots they remain
The master's gone
I've cut the chain
I'm finally a soul
without strings

(Outro)

Oh! I don't need the sugar
Give me no sweet
Give me no sweet
Give me no sweet
Give me no sweet
Give me no sweet
